DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 33-45 and 47-59, drawn to a solid pharmaceutical composition for oral administration, which comprises components a) – d), within one and the same phase.

Group II, claims 33, 44, and 46, drawn to a solid pharmaceutical composition for oral administration, which comprises components a) – d), within one and the same phase, wherein the surfactant is comiconized with the active principle.

Group III, claims 33, 34, and 60, drawn to a solid pharmaceutical composition for oral administration, which comprises components a) – d), within one and the same phase, further comprising an external phase comprising one or more excipients.

Group IV, claims 63 and 66-68, drawn to a method for preparing the pharmaceutical composition of claim 33.

Group V, claims 63 and 64, drawn to a method for preparing the pharmaceutical composition of claim 33, further comprising the addition of an external phase after step b) and before step c).

Group VI, claims 63 and 65, drawn to a method for preparing the pharmaceutical composition of claim 33, further comprising a preliminary step of comiconizing of the active principle with the surfactant(s).

The inventions listed as Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature in all groups is at least one solid and micronized lipophilic active principle within one and the same phase. US Patent No. 6,277,405 ("Stamm") teaches at least one solid and micronized lipophilic active principle within one and the same phase (see col. 3, lines 31-34).

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Group I: Active Principle

- one class of lipophilic active principles from those listed in claim 35.

Group IV: Method

- the method of claim 66; or
- the method of claim 68.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 1615

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Group I: Active Principle

- one class of lipophilic active principles from those listed in claim 35.

Group IV: Method

- the method of claim 66; or
- the method of claim 68.

The following claims are generic: 33 and 63.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each class of active principles listed in claim 35 produces a different physiological effect from the other. The method of claim 66 produces a product which differs from the product produced by the method of claim 68.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;

(e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
